

UTAH STATE ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

Series 17170

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR [603]

OATHS OF OFFICE, 1903-[ongoing]

DESCRIPTION: Prior to taking statewide office, newly elected officials, judges, appointed commission members and agency directors, and special law enforcement officers in Utah are required to take an oath of office from any person in the state authorized to administer oaths. Officeholders each solemnly swear (or affirm) to support, obey, and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Utah State Constitution, and to discharge the duties of the office with fidelity.

Upon administration of the prescribed oath (or affirmation), a record documenting its administration is created. This record is an official form on which the constitutional oath of office is printed, with blank spaces for adding the officeholder's name and office title. This form is subscribed by the individual taking the oath. The person (notary public, judge, etc.) administering the oath also signs the record and imprints the form with an official seal or stamp, along with the date the oath was administered. By statute, completed oaths were filed with the Secretary of State, which office was later expanded and renamed the Lieutenant Governor.

State officers are required by both the federal and state constitutions to take an oath of office. The Constitution of the United States requires members of the legislature as well as all executive and judicial officers of the states to be bound by oath or affirmation to support the federal Constitution (Article VI, clause 3). The Constitution of Utah specifies the wording of the oath to be taken by "all officers made elective or appointive by this Constitution or by the laws made in pursuance thereof, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices" (Article IV, section 10).

In addition to the constitutional requirements cited above, state officials are compelled by federal statute to take and file the prescribed oath of office (U.S. Code, Title 4, sections 101-102). Various state statutes also require specific state officers to take and file the oath of office: i.e., special law enforcement officers; agency directors; and members of boards, councils, committees, commissions, etc.

Statutes and policies also require many other officials to take the constitutional oath of office before beginning their duties. Included are county, city, and town officials; attorneys at law; court reporters; justices of the peace; and notaries public. These statutes also specify in which office the oath is to be filed (i.e., county clerk, division of state government, etc.). Some oaths filed in these offices may be found in other series in Archives's custody. This series includes only those oaths filed with the Secretary of State, Lieutenant Governor, and the Division of Archives.

Cover letters accompanying completed forms occasionally were filed with the oaths. These have been retained in the series. In some instances, only the cover letter survives.

ARRANGEMENT: The oaths of office are arranged chronologically by year. Within each year, individual forms are in alphabetical order. Forms with completely illegible names follow the final legible form for that year. If the initial letter of the surname can be determined, it has been filed under that letter.

RESEARCH NOTE: In a few instances, the oath was evidently administered to two or more officers at once and all names appear on a single oath. In such cases, the oath is filed under the name of the first individual listed. In other instances when the oath was administered to a group with a separate oath of office form issued for each person, individuals have inadvertently signed each other's forms. In cases when the signature does not match the name typewritten or printed on the oath, the signature was given preference in deciding whose oath is on file and the order in which it is filed.

RELATED RECORDS: Letters notifying individuals whose oaths appear in this series of their appointment to public service (as well as occasional misfiled oaths) may be found in the appointment files of various governors: i.e., GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENT NOTICES (1957-1964), series 195; BOARD AND COMMISSION APPOINTMENT NOTICES (1976-1979), series 219; and BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS APPOINTMENT FILES (1985-[ongoing]), series 9393. Further documentation that individual members of the legislature, whose oaths appear in this series, took the oath of office prior to beginning their terms is found in HOUSE JOURNALS (1882-[ongoing]), series 456, and SENATE JOURNALS (1882-[ongoing]), series 409. Copies of oaths for some elected and appointed officials in this series, including general officers of the state militia on the governor's staff soon after statehood, are also found in EXECUTIVE RECORD BOOKS (1850-1949), series 242. Oaths were occasionally placed with the ELECTION PAPERS (1851-1976), series 364, especially during early years. Statutes require some state officials to post a bond in addition to filing an oath. These bonds and copies of some oaths found here are recorded in OFFICIAL BONDS REGISTERS (1896-1949), series 355. Once officials had taken the oath and posted the required bond, they were entitled to receive their official commission. Oaths of early officials were sometimes placed with their commissions in the COMMISSION REGISTERS (1888-1938), series 352.

PROCESSING NOTE: This is a continuing series. New additions are transferred to the Archives at regular intervals throughout the year as new officeholders are appointed and take the constitutional oath of office. Archivally processed by W. Glen Fairclough, Jr., in 1992. Microfilming of oaths filed between 1903 and 1991 use was completed in 1992. Microfilming of oaths filed between 1992 and 1997 is pending.

GAPS IN THE SERIES: Because oaths of office are required of nearly all public officials, many different agencies at various levels of government have responsibility to file them. In mandating which officials are required to take an oath of office, the Utah Code generally specifies which office is responsible for filing the oaths. However, it is not uncommon for an oath to be filed with the wrong office or perhaps retained by the agency in which the official served for varying periods. If a specific record is not here, please check the records of the agency in which the official served, those of the office statutorily responsible for filing the oath, one of the related records series, and the appointment files of various governors.
